the brief

Each applicant will be challenged to design ONE object according to this year's theme, LIVING ROOM OBJECT, using one or more of the outlined sustainable design techniques.

(1000cm x 1000cm x 1000cm)

Should you make the cut to become one of our Top 5 finalists, you will be required to make this object.

Designers will be judged according to: theme, creativity, sustainability, marketability & craftsmanship (final judging round only) each with equal weighting.

first round

Design a living room object, using one or more of the stipulated sustainable design techniques.

Every application must contain the following:

1 x A2 landscape board, matt laminated with all the relevant contact details written in pencil on the back:

- Full name
- Email address
- Contact number
- Name of institution (if applicable)
- Lecturers full name (if applicable)
- Contact number of lecturer (if applicable)

The board must contain the following:

- Name of the object
- Brief explanation of the concept behind the design (max 100 words). You may include concept sketches to explain your design process. Your artwork must clearly demonstrate how the sustainable design technique(s) is/are being applied to your object.
- Images & details of original material selection (incl. type & source) before cutting or any alteration
- High quality, large realistic 3D rendering of your object (computer generated or hand drawn)
- Relevant technical drawings of the object, showing all details and measurements.

Your entries must also include:

- 1 page CV of applicant
- 1 page for 3 brief written statements about your aspirations

No complete objects are required to be made in the open first round application. All artwork must be original creations designed by you and they must not have been seen in public previously.

format of each page

- A4 – separate pages (no binding or mounting)
- Full name, institution (if applicable), email address and mobile number should be written on the back of each of the above pages with a pencil.

Mail or drop off complete application in a sturdy cardboard envelope or box to avoid any damage.
